Allegations of namecalling, profanity and even some shoving among the mayor, councillors and a town official surfaced last week, illustrating again how prevalent personal conflicts are at Fort Erie town hall.

FROM THE VERY BEGINNING While genetics may play a role in hearing lose, 90 ent at children who are born deet have pe no hearing impairments. As important as it is to detec ning impairment as early as possible, as recently as the 1995s, hearing problems often went undetected and untreated until a child reached two to four years of oge. Since then, however, it has been recognized that a prester effort needed to be made to detect begins less in newborns, who get more than 50 percent a what they learn from incidental hearing. The tirst step in this direction is newborn screaning, which has led to early intervention with beering instruments in children or warms on four to six regulbs. If a pensible busyles less is found, further tests will be done to confirm the results. When hearing loss is confirmed, treatment and early intervention should begin as soon as possible. Studies show that children with bearing loss who receive appropriate early intervention services by see 6 months utually develop good language and learning skills. more information, pionee cell HEARAGAIN BALANCE & HEARING CLINICS at 905-871-4242. Town Hall. "I would allege this is a direct conflict of interest," said Thibert. After Lubberts and dispute about unflattering comments made about him by a councillor at the May 27 meeting.

prepared to apologize for using an expletive and offensive term to describe the mayor. but only if the Martin would apologize for another incident between them that took place in July 2012. Collard said after a July 2012 meeting, he and the mayor were walking down a hallway at town hall when the mayor bumped into him. "As the mayor approached me, there was, in my opinion, an obvious but subtle move to make hard shoulder contact with me." Collard recalled

Monday at council. Martin said the event took place less than two weeks after he had undergone knee-replacement surgery. He said in no way would be ever purposely instigate a physical altercation with anyone, especially after having surgery so recently.

"You did not yield any space for me. Our shoulders did brush because there was no other place for me to go, Martin said at the meeting. Martin said Collard should be ashamed for making critical comments about him in a public forum, not when it was just two people in a room without any other onlookers. "I called you some pretty nasty things because it was just you and I, man-to-man having a discussion in private. If you'd like to go out into the hall, I'm sure we could do it again," said Martin.

The mayor said if the alleged comments made about him were spoken between the two of them, he would have no issue. But because they were apparently overheard by

Fort Erie burning while politicians fiddle

Nobody has accused any-body on Fort Erie town council of smoking crack cocaine vet, but some of the town's elected representatives seem to be in a race with Toronto for title of Ontario's most embarrassing municipality. Last week, in a spectacular display of pettiness, Mayor Doug Martin, councillors Don Lubberts and Paul Collard, along with economic development manager Jim Thibert decided to air their dirty laundry in Lubberts was ticked

Thibert excluded him from an opening-day event at the Fort Erie Race Track and may have implied he was an "idiot."

Martin is mad at Collard because he might have used a little profanity to describe the mayor. And Collard is still steaming - a year later because he thinks Martin might have intentionally humned into him a little hard in a hallway in July

The egos are out of control. Some of these so-called public servants have lost sight of the fact they're supposed to be serving their constituents instead of serving their own deluded selfimportance. Their embarrassing antics have to leave the good people of Fort Erie cringing as they read about the conduct at Fort Erie town hall. It's not just the town's residents. however. Everyone in Niagara has a stake in how successful Fort Frie is Because Niagarans pool their tax dollars to pay for services like policing, water treatment, welfare, and public health, we all have a vested interest in seeing a successful Fort Erie. When its councillors whine like petulant children

("Jimmy called me an idiot," "Paul used a bad word," *Dougle pushed me*), not only do they embarrass themselves and let down the people they represent, they indirectly let down the entire region There are real problems in the town. People who have lived there all their lives, who have chosen Fort Erie as the place to raise their family, who have put their financial futures on the line - they're all strug-But the mayor and elected town councillors can't seem to rise above bickering over who snubbed whom by keeping him off the quest list for a free lunch at the racetrack's opening day or who used the F-word when talking about the mayor.

Boys, boys, your town is dying on the vine. Now more than ever, the town faces a crisis, but they've got what should be called the Nero Council — fiddling while their town burns

CAMH thinks province should hike legal drinking age

by now, its puritan streak runs that deep. Maybe that's why CAMH felt confident in calling for the higher drinking age, among a series of measures, to help fight the deadly serious problem of alcohol ahuse Even in London, a university city whose campus Playboy magazine ranked one of North America's best party schools, there's a strong teetotaling undercurrent. A recent London Free Press poll found readers sharply divided on raising the legal drinking age. Five years ago, the local health board pushed for the increase but was shot down. Except for Alberta, Manitoba and Quebec, where it's 18, the entire country sets 19 as the drinking age for people who, at that age, are legal adults, able to vote, smoke, gamble, even die for their country in Ontario lowered its drinking age to 18 from 21 in 1971, but since 1979 -- after complaints too many high school kids were getting drunk -- has stuck with 19. No question, alcohol remains a factor in far too many deaths in Canada, especially on the road. Binge drinking and alcoholism also exact other heavy tolls, many for which we all pay. But if a higher drinking age would stop underage drinking, where's the evidence? Surely not in the U.S., where the minimum age is

At 19. Ontario's legal drinking age is a balanced threshold. In step with most of Canada, it neither treats young adults as children nor dangles unrealistically prude expectations. Behind the wheel, the drinking age is backstopped by a zero-tolerance approach to booze for drivers under 22. Even one drop found in a driver's system means a licence suspension, maybe worse. On top of that, can anyone argue today's youngsters aren't the most bombarded in history by responsible drinking messages? Such ads were unheard of in the '70s. True, many teens now push adolescence into their

Before | started to travel to the US, I avoided it mainly because it seemed con-fusing to me. Trying to figure out what you can an cannot bring back, the dollar amount, some products which are banned/not banned, etc.

I recently learned that Kinder Egg chocolates are illegal in the US., and can carry a pretty blg fine if you're caught with them. In 2012, about three million cars crossed into the US, using the Peace Bridge and caused a surge of Canadian shoppers spending their dollars in the US. About 50 to 70% of dollars spent locally are directly re-invested into the community through taxes and other expenditures.

I'm not pro-local shopping, nor am I con-local shopping, I don't go out of the way to cross the boarder for a deal, but I don't see anything wrong with the consumer looking for the best deal they can find, whether that deal is at home, or beyond the board-

Family makes it happen – donates $8,000 to guide dogs

Melissa Mangelsen Fort Frie Times

Rob Parker's family continues to 'make it happen' His family is carrying on his legacy after his passing two years ago.

"It's hard to believe that Rob's been gone two years already," said his mother Dianne Parker.

His family, along with his former guide dog Duke, made an $8,000 presentation to the Lions Foundation of Canada Guide Dogs last week Parker became wellknown around Greater Fort Erie and most of the time was seen with his dog guide Duke.

In the months and weeks leading up to his passing. Parker was in the process of organizing a fundraiser for the Lions Guide Dog Foundation called Let's Make it Happen.

His family decided to keep the event alive and held their fourth annual event May 25 at the Leisureplex Banquet Hall. Community support was once again strong, with the goal of the fundraiser to provide funding for a disabled individual in need of a guide dog. The average price to completely train a dog is Parker always had Duke by his side because he suffered from epileptic sei-"It's amazing how much they can do for their life." said his mom. Duke gave Rob the freedom to go places without worry and confidence. Iulie Ielinek, of the Lions Foundation of Canada was on hand last week to receive the cheque from the Parker

"This donation is greatly appreciated and will go towards another guide dog," she said.

Guide dogs can be used by people who are blind of visually impaired, people who are deaf or hard of hearing, for children and their families living with autism spectrum disorder. for people who are medically or physically disabled, people with epilepsy and for people with Type 1 diabetes with hypoglycemic unawareness. Depending on which area the does are trained to perform a set of basic sills that are useful to all bandlers. However, some of their training is also tailored to meet the specific needs of their future handlers. In the final stage of training, the client and dog guide train and live together at the Oakville facility for two to four weeks. This helps ensure that the new working team develops a bond

Not only is it a chance to get out of the classroom, but a group of students from Wilfrid Laurier University are getting a first-hand look at what it was like for soldiers fighting near the Old Fort in Fort Erie during the War of 1812.

"We know a lot from the historical documents about this particular position," said John Triggs, associate professor in the department of archeology. "In this location we are working on a battery that was erected by the Americans in August of 1814. This was a defensive position We had the Americans on this side and the other side we had the British that would have been attacked."

DSBN trustees approve $417M budget

Average cost for each DSBN pupil is estimated to be $11.678

Don Fraser QMI Agency

District School Board of Niagara trustees hailed a "good news" $417 million budget they passed unanimously.

At Monday's board meeting, they were told despite revenue challenges, the finance committee didn't have to chop programs for 2013-14

It also means the average cost of education per DSBN pupil is expected to be $11,935.

The approved budget for this ending school year was higher, at $423 million. The cost was then forecast to be $11,678 for every student.

"All of the programs we offered last year, we will offer again next year," said trustee and finance committee chair Dalton Clark. "We are cutting nothing out of the budget

That, in spite of a reduction of about $10 million in grants from the province, mainly due to declining enrolment. He said that has been dealt with, in measures like reduced staffing - especially secondary schools and other administrative costs slashed by school

Clark said there will also be enhancements next school year, including extended full-day kindergarten, French immersion and technology training.

shut-downs.

The trustee for St. Catharines and Niagaraon-the-Lake also spoke to an ongoing issue - the board's concern about provincial underfunding in special education.

The DSBN says that grant is about 10%, or $4.6 million, below its funding at the average, provincial per-pupil rate. Trustees supported spending $800,000 above that funding, to partly han-

"Sooner or later, the province has to (deal) with this." Clark told the board. "It would mean so much to our students and the DSRN*

Several trustees complimented the committee on a budget that modestly boosts some programs. "This is a good news budget," said trustee Alex

Bradnam, his sentiment repeated by others. "It's looking at what we have, and what we're able to do with what we've got - and also our position, like many boards across the province. "We're moving in the right direction... we have no cuts in programs, but have enhancements. "And we're moving ahead, despite the $10 million shortfall that we have. due to lack of students. Then, to also be able to retain (an overall balance), in the end, of about $7 mil-enhancement highlights: *$1.2 million to create an additional 27, full day kindergarten classes, adding to the 38 new, full day early learning classes starting in September. *it means another 25 DSBN schools will offer full day kindergarten, bringing the total to 66 DSBN elementary schools *$800,000 to expand French immersion

*$185,000 for teacher training in classroom technology

*previously-projected average daily enrolment for next school year is 33,961a decrease of 1,094 students, or 3.12% compared to this ending school year.

I he Friendship Festival is a celebration of the bond between Canada and the United States spanning over 200 years of peace. The unique relationship is especially prominent along the "Niagaras", the area of Southern Ontano and Western New York which share an international border, Started in 1987. the Friendship Festival has enjoyed over 26 years of growth and local impact to both sides of the Niagara River, located at the east end of Lake Erie. The Festival is marking the July 1st, 1867 birth of Canada, the July 4th, 1776, Declaration of Independence of the United States of America, and the War of 1812, a turning point towards friendship. The War of 1812, two hundred plus years ago, started this unique friendship of Canada and the United States. including the event, the signing of "The Treaty of Ghent" which took place on Christmas eve 1814, the message would not be received until January 1815. The Friendship Festival celebrates the continuation of the relationship between Canada and the United States into the future. Organizers in Fort Erie, Ontario, and Buffalo, New York co-host a series of exciting events over 4 days, June 28th through July 1st. The international flavour of the festival brings together a collection of food, music, entertainment, cultural, arts and crafts and a host of children's activities. With thousands of people from Western New York and the Golden Horseshoe, this years festival promises to continue the tradition of becoming a truly international event. showcasing the Niagaras and the Binational Region.

The Fort Erie Economic Development and Tourism Corporation's (EDTC) 2013 photo contest wrapped up June 4, as judges representing the Fort Erie Arts Council and the Heritage Arts Legacy of Fort Erie reviewed the hundreds of photo images submitted through the local contest.

With submissions made in a number of categories, including the great outdoors. Fort Erie landmarks, sports and recreation and festivals and events, local photo bugs were eligible to share in some of the $3,000 in cash prizes available through the contest.

The contest was developed primarily as a means of updating and expanding the Fort Erie EDTC's photo library. Many of the images received through the contest will be utilized in the EDTC's ongoing marketing and promotional efforts, highlighting with the community has to offer. "We are thrilled at the response the contest elicited. We did not expect to receive over 700 entries, and we were blown away by the quality of the images we received" said

Adam Joon, the Fort Erie EDTC's Sr. economic development officer The EDTC would like to congratulate all of the contest winners, and thank all those who participated in the contest. Volunteer judges Ruby Smith, Doug Wilson, Colin

Cory Smith QMI Agency

The Grand Rapids Griffins won their first American Hockey League title Wednesday and Trevor Parkes was on the ice to hoist the trouby.

The Fort Erle native didn't play during the Griffins' playoff run, but had his jersey on for the post-game celebrations after Grand Rapids' 5-2 win over Syracuse to capture the Calder Cup in six games.

"I'm just real excited for our players who just had an unbelievable amount of determination all year," Griffins' first-year coach Jeff Bashill told mlive.com afterwards. Real excited for our ownership and our organization. Alot of people have given a lot for a long period of time and they should be able to enjoy this."

Cannons improve record, Fort Erie to host All Star game

The Cannons improved their record to 6-3 last week with a nair of wins.

On the road in Thorold Monday they hammered the home Mariners 21-10. Royce Gooder, Kris Hodges and Matt Pine each had three hits in the game to supply most of the offensive power.

The St. Catharines Cobras ame to town Wednesday and they suffered a 7-1 defeat to a very sharp Cannon team that night, Starter Mike Fowler scattered five hits over six innings for the win. Kris Hodges, Adam Fowler and Jody Lorito all scored two runs for the home-

Fort Erie Race Track receives $5.5M in transition funding

Last week, figures were released by the province that indicate how much transition funding was handed down to 12 horse-racing tracks in Ontario at the start of the 2013 season. Fort Erie Race Track has received the second-highest amount with $5.5 million. The Woodbine Entertainment Group, on behalf of Woodhine and Mohawk Race Tracks. were allocated $38 million in transition funding

Chief executive officer of the Fort Frie Live Racing Consortium Iim Thibert coid although the local border oval is one of the greater recipients from this account, there are a number of factore that should be considered when comparing the total amount being distributed to various sites Several tracks are still in receipt of steady revenue generated by slots, which were removed from the Fort Erie Race Track

"Those revenues offset the actual cost of racing thereby reducing demands on transition funding," Thibert.

He also noted the $82 million in funding that was recently made available by the province to cover previous expansion costs for tracks that hosted slots. Thibert said it should be realized that the $5.5 million in transition funding isn't the only source for operating costs in 2013 and that the overall amount the track has to work with is closer to $6.9 million.

LYME DISEASE: WHAT MAKES IT TICK?

As temperatures begin to finally rise across southern Ontario after several weeks of gloomy weather, many Niagara residents are eager to bring out their summer

However, it doesn't take long before we quickly remember that along with the summer heat comes the return of mosquitoes, spiders, and ticks, in Ontario, most residents are well informed about the illnesses mosquitoes can spread and ways of protecting yourself. But how informed are we about ticks?

There are many different species of ticks; however, the one that is of concern is the blacklegged tick, also known as the deer tick. This sesame seed sized tick can be the host to the bacteria that can cause Lyme disease, which, if untreated, can result in arthritis, heart problems, and various nervous system problems. The American brown dog tick is approximately half a centimeter and has not been shown to carry Lyme disease.

The Niagara region has a high concentration of ticks, especially in the areas surrounding Lake Erie. The Niagara Health Department recommends wearing pants and long sleeved shirts when walking in wooded areas to minimize the chances of a tick bite

If you notice a tick has attached to your skin, it should be removed immediately by graphing the head with a pair of tweezers and pulling straight up. Do not try to burn the tick off of the skin using a match or lighter. The area should be then be washed with soap and water, if you are unable to remove the entire tick, you should give your doctor a call and they can remove it for you. The tick can be brought to the health department for analysis to see if it was infected with the hacteria that causes Lyme.

Ticks often pick up the bacteria that cause Lyme disease while feeding on infected rodents. However, it should be noted that most ticks are not carriers.

The majority of people who are bitten by ticks do not develop Lyme disease, however if you notice a red bullseve rash on the skin, develop a fever, headache or muscle and joint pains, you should seek medical attention. The symptoms typically develop within 1 to 2 weeks of a bite. Lyme disease can often be cured with antibiotics if treatment is started early.
